Aqua Mekong – Southeast Asia

What better way to explore the treasures of Cambodia and Vietnam than by traveling down the Mekong on a floating five-star hotel? From proud pagoda temples to mysterious Buddhist monasteries, the rich culture offers endless options by land, though those exploring by water gain rare access to the flooded emerald forests and bamboo stilt villages. Floor-to-ceiling panoramic windows in each of the 20 suites allow guests to watch this exotic world pass by from the comfort of their California King. Of course, don't be surprised if a frosty tropical drink in the plunge pool or the talents of the Michelin-starred chef tempt you to the observation deck! ## Dromoland Castle – Ireland

Step back in time at one of the most famous baronial castles in Ireland, with all of the expected modern luxuries of a five-star hotel. Try your (gloved) hand at falconry, taking your own personal hawk on a stroll through the woodlands to hunt, or explore the estate by horseback with a chef-prepared picnic basket. Enjoy a lavish afternoon tea in the drawing room or on the outdoor terrace overlooking tranquil Dromoland Lough, or knock back an Irish ale or peat-y whiskey in the Lord's octagonal former study-turned-bar in the round tower. Whether learning the art of golf, clay shooting, archery, fly-fishing or taking a simple trip to the spa, this County Clare castle will leave you feeling like royalty.
