Sustainable style

Each Taller Marmo piece of clothing is made in Italy from locally sourced materials to reduce its carbon footprint. The latest collection is inspired by the relaxed style of Anita Pallenberg and Ali MacGraw, artist Georgia O'Keeffe and photographer Deborah Turbeville. Embellished with coral motifs, these dresses and kaftans are perfect for chic gatherings on deck. tallermarmo.com

Privacy in paradise

The largest private island in the Maldives is now open to guests. Part of the Waldorf Astoria, Ithaafushi is a few minutes' boat ride from the main hotel (or a 40-minute ride from Malé on the resort's Princess yacht). It's available for exclusive hire, accommodating up to 24 guests in two-, three- and four-bedroom residences. waldorfastoriamaldives.com

Cool cargo

Hopping off the yacht for a stroll in town? The Freddy 42 backpack by British leather brand Tanner Krolle (a favourite of Jackie Onassis and Cary Grant) is perfect to carry your shopping in style. We love the green version, but it also comes in oxblood and black. £1,800, tannerkrolle.com

Ibiza meets Japan

Designed by architects MG&AG and inspired by Japanese concepts of inner space, OKU is the latest five-star opening in Ibiza for summer 2021. Alongside four swimming pools (including the largest on the island), it boasts two restaurants and bespoke art commissions. Book the 140-square-metre Signature Suite, or a standalone four-bedroom villa for extra privacy. okuhotels.com

Over land and sea

Aqua Expeditions and Indonesian retreat NIHI Sumba have partnered to offer a seven-night, all-inclusive expedition package currently taking bookings through to 2022. Departing from Bali, the first four nights will be spent cruising the Sumbawa coastline and Komodo National Park on board the 15-suite, 60-metre explorer yacht Aqua Blu, with the remaining three in the 28-villa NIHI Sumba. nihi.com; aquaexpeditions.com

Voyage Edit

Jungles by yacht

BORNEO RAINFOREST

This 140 million-year old jungle in the world's third-largest island is one of South East Asia's prime wildlife-watching destinations. Start your journey in Sabah and cruise the Kinabatangan River, looking out for elephants and proboscis monkeys. Don't miss diving around Mabul and Sipadan islands, and end your trip watching turtles laying eggs on the beaches of Lankayan.

AMAZON RAINFOREST

Representing more than half of the world's remaining rainforest, the Amazon spans nine countries and is home to 16,000 species of tree. The Peruvian Amazon can be visited in superyacht style on board Aqua Expeditions' new 20-suite Aqua Nera, whose inaugural voyage is planned for this month.

SINHARAJA FOREST RESERVE, SRI LANKA

A UNESCO World Heritage Site, south-west Sri Lanka's Sinharaja Forest is a biodiversity hotspot populated by endemic species of flora and fauna and dotted with ancient structures. Drop anchor in Galle and check in at nearby Cape Weligama for relaxing spa treatments between explorations.

WAIPOUA FOREST, NEW ZEALAND

Situated on New Zealand's North Island, Waipoua Forest is home to the country's largest kauri tree, the 2,000-year-old Tāne Mahuta. Fly to Kerikeri Airport then make the 30-minute drive to Whangaroa Harbour, where you can meet your yacht and start your adventure.
